Bhopal: Madhya Pradesh Happiness department is observing a joy of giving month which began on October 5. Under it, the people can donate for the ones in need of help.

Happiness department, colloquially known as Rajya Anand Sansthan, has taken the Neki ki Deewar concept a step forward and set up Anandam Kendra in every district of the state.

With the help of social organizations, the department is running Anandam Kendras or centres where people can donate goods and the ones in need can come and select. Anandam Kendras are being run in the anganwadi centres or in the premises of government schools. Apart from providing help in the form of goods, other activities like celebrating birthdays, running coaching classes are also carried out from the centres.

Happiness department was created by the state government in 2016. In the initial days it adopted the concept of Neki ki Deewar where people can leave the things they wish to donate. It was mainly in open areas without proper space, but the department through Anandam Kendras has made it systematic in covered places with the help of its volunteers and social organizations.

Rajya Anand Sansthan CEO Akhilesh Argal said, the joy of giving month has been initiated in the month of Diwali so that the people having extra can donate and the ones in need can get. It would give inner happiness to the donors as well as receivers, he added.
